

Member Benefits

Open Access Australasia (previously AOASG) is the major regional Australasian organisation that advocates for innovative change in scholarly communication, specifically to make Australasian research Open and FAIR (Findable, Accessible, Interoperable and Reusable). The group works with relevant regional and global initiatives. The group is supported by twenty Australian universities, eight New Zealand universities (via CONZUL) and five affiliate organisations, Creative Commons Australia, Tohatoha, New Zealand, ALIA, ADA and Wikimedia Australia.

The Open Access Australasia Executive Committee, chaired by Martin Borchert, University Librarian UNSW, provides broad representation from across the sector. Dr Ginny Barbour, Director, Open Access Australasia is an experienced open access advocate.

In order to inform regional debate, Open Access Australasia provides comprehensive free resources:

- an informative website on Open Access with a particular focus on Australasia
- downloadable infographics and other resources on specific topics
- regular events throughout the year
- co-ordination of an open access community of practice
- a regular newsletter
- commentary on social media

Specific Open Access Australasia Member benefits:

- The opportunity to influence national and international open access advocacy discussions and debates through input into submissions and consultations that Open Access Australasia provides to government, funders and other high-level stakeholders
- Access to specific advice on capacity building through in-person workshops at member institutions or through individual discussions
- Regular member-only updates on open access and related issues
- A member-only listserv for discussion of open access and related issues
- Participation in discussions on the development of resources

Full Institutional Members (single and multiple) are entitled to:

- Specific advice on the implementation of open access within their institution
- Free attendance for staff at Open Access Australasia in-person strategy and other meetings
- A yearly institutional workshop/meeting (or, for a group of institutions, at one of the group)
- Participate in General Meetings
- Nominate issues for consideration at any General or Executive Committee Meetings
- Nominate individuals for a position on the Executive Committee
- Vote on membership to the Executive Committee

Affiliate Organisational Members are entitled to:

- Free attendance at Open Access Australasia in-person strategy and other meetings
- Participate in General Meetings
- Nominate issues for consideration at any General or Executive Committee Meetings

Membership

Membership fees are tiered based on the size of the institution (EFTSU numbers). For more information on joining, please contact Dr Virginia Barbour, Director, Open Access Australasia. director@oaaaustralasia.org

Open Access Australasia: activities in 2020-2021

Definitive online resources for open access in Australasia

- We undertook an extensive website redesign
- Updated resources including comprehensive set of directories of regional OA initiatives, extensive FAQs, articles and news

Key collaborator from Australasia in international open access advocacy

Leadership positions include:

- Martin Borchert is Chair of Global Sustainability Coalition for Open Science Services \(SCOSS\)
- Ginny Barbour is on the Steering Committee of Invest in Open Infrastructure
- Ginny Barbour provided expert advice to the UNESCO Consultation on Open Science and participated in the 2nd UN Open Science Conference
- Ginny Barbour is Chair of the DORA Advisory Group
- Ginny Barbour is a cOAlition S ambassador
- Martin Borchert and Ginny Barbour are part of Curtin Open Knowledge Initiative community

Leader in regional open access advocacy

- In collaboration with CAUL, in 2020 we co-convened a high-level working group to discuss how Australia might develop a national approach to open research
- Supported work on open access by Australia's newly appointed Chief Scientist, Dr Cathy Foley
- Provided advice to CONZUL

Public writing on open access

Open science: after the COVID-19 pandemic there can be no return to closed working

Australian Academy of Science, April 2020

Science publishing has opened up during the coronavirus pandemic. It won't be easy to keep it that way

The Conversation, July 2020

A renewed impetus for open research in Australia

International Associations of Universities (IAU) Horizons, May 2021

Demonstrating Open Access COVID-19 initiatives

In 2020, our website curated resources relating to the role of Open Access in the COVID-19 pandemic

Highlighting the diversity of open access through a webinar program

2021 topics included open access and the UN Sustainable development goals, Confederation of Open Access Repositories vision for the role of repositories in Open Science and the role of 'open' in image credibility.

In 2020, we ran a highly successful Open Access week

The group coordinated a week-long series of ten events in October 2020, with speakers from across Australia, New Zealand and internationally, which had the highest level ever of participation.

We will host the 2021 Open Access week events.